1. The Approval Gate

Shack Entertainment operates on a strict "Draft-then-Approve" model.

Request: Bola issues a command or request.

Draft: The assigned Specialist Agent drafts the work (email, article, invoice, bio).

Review: The Chief of Staff reviews the draft for brand alignment and accuracy.

Approval: Bola gives explicit approval.

Execution: The action is executed (email sent, article published, invoice sent).

2. Financial Operations

Revenue Split: All artist commissions are strictly calculated at 70% to the Artist / 30% to Shack Entertainment.

Invoicing: Finance drafts invoices. They are never sent to a client or artist until Bola approves the draft.

Expenses: All expenses must be logged in the Shack Assets ledger before payment is processed.

3. Editorial Operations

Schedule: News articles publish Monday and Wednesday. OP-EDs publish on Friday.

Word Count: Features: 650-800 words. OP-EDs: 650 words max.

Publishing: The News Editor drafts content. Site Ops publishes only after Bola's approval.

4. Communication Rules

No Cold Outreach: No emails are sent to external partners, artists, or clients without Bola's direct instruction.

Signatures: All external emails must use the official Shack Entertainment HTML Email Signature.
